Welcome to the second edition of The Costume Directory, with over 80 additional entries, marked with a ★. As before, the directory has been put together to share information and ideas across costume departments. It is intended as a resource that takes the hassle out of finding suppliers and brands who are committed to fair treatment throughout their supply chain, and who prioritize sustainability, environmental responsibility and fair trade.

The global textile industry has a huge social and environmental impact. Second to oil, fashion and textiles is the most polluting industry in the world. The majority of textiles in the world are produced in developing countries such as India and China. This industry relies on cheap labour and exploitation, where millions of farmers, weavers and garment manufacturers work long hours for little or no pay, in unsafe conditions, using dangerous chemicals without the proper protection or processes.

By its nature costume isn’t a sustainable sector, as we ultimately produce one off items with a limited purpose. But we have the capacity to operate in a far more socially and environmentally responsible manner. As a massive consumer, we have to take responsibility for the impact of our work. On any given project we buy or make more clothes than the average person will own in a life-time, so while it may seem that making small changes to your costume department is not going to change the industry as a whole, costume designers can make simple choices that will contribute to a wider culture and attitude change.

This directory is an index of contacts, as opposed to a definitive guide on all things ethical and sustainable. It sets out the varying criteria and credentials to look for when choosing a supplier, and the standards that make a given brand a superior choice. Organic? Recycled? Fairtrade? Local? Vegan? There are minefields of things to consider when deciding which element of “ethical” you are trying to address, but our intention is not for designers to compromise their design or blow their budget, by trying to tick every box. It is simply about consciously addressing the decisions being made, and seeing if they could possibly be done in a more mindful way. It is important to contact suppliers in order to verify any information included, and to check for updates or changes in policy.

The directory has been put together by two people in their spare time (!) and its aim is to get us collectively, as the costume industry, to address the impact our work has on the world, and to see if we can do things differently. It is intended to be a collaborative project so please get involved with any ideas and updates!

REASONS TO GO GREEN

1. EXPLOITATIVE LABOUR

Textile production and garment manufacturing predominately takes place in developing countries where labour is cheap, unregulated and human rights abuses are endemic. Choosing to support brands and suppliers who offer fair working conditions and compensation can make a huge impact on workers lives as well as supporting improved standards industry wide.

2. CHILD LABOUR

The ILO estimates that as of current there are approximately 170 million child labourers in the world, predominately working in the textile and garment manufacturing industries. Children should have access to education, obtaining an education directly contributes to improved livelihoods.

3. HAZARDOUS WORKING CONDITIONS

Unsafe working conditions have resulted in numerous avoidable tragedies over the past decade. In particular 1,134 people were killed and thousands more injured in the collapse of the Rana Plaza building in Bangladesh, which housed factories making clothes for 29 global brands. The accident was predicted, and entirely preventable. Since Rana Plaza, The Fashion Revolution has encouraged increased transparency industry wide but many brands still lack understanding of their supply chains, preventing them from being able to enforce fair working conditions.

4. HAZARDOUS CHEMICALS

Workers and the wider communities where textiles are produced and processed can be exposed to hazardous chemicals which pollute the air and water. According to the soil association up to 77 million cotton workers suffer poisoning from pesticides each year. Acute poisoning from pesticides is commonplace in cotton production; deaths from sever poisoning are widespread. Non-organic cotton manufacture uses tens of thousands of acutely toxic chemicals, including heavy metals, formaldehyde and aromatic solvent, many of which are classified as hazardous by the World Health Organisation (WHO) and have been associated with cancer, birth defects and hormonal and reproductive effects in wildlife and humans (The Soil Association UK) As well as cotton production, denim and leather processing are chemical intensive textiles contributing to poising and destroying ecosystems.

5. LAND GRABS

Iresponsible fabric sourcing has led to land grabs in areas which are resource rich, resulting in the displacement of indigenous peoples, communities and the destruction of forests. In particular in Indonesia and Brazil, wood based fabrics such as rayon, viscose and modal have been linked to land grabs. (Rainforest Action Network)
6. DEPLETION OF RESOURCES
Conventionally produced cotton and petrochemical based fabrics are massive polluters and consume a significant amount of energy, fuel and produce millions of tons of CO2. The textile industry is one of the major consumers of water and fuel. A single pair of jeans can use 3,781 liters of water in its full lifecycle and 25% of the carbon footprint of clothes comes from the way we care for them.

7. FARMER DEBT
GM company Monsanto controls 95% of the cotton seed market in India. Increasingly expensive, pesticides can make up 60% of the costs of cotton production, eating into diminishing returns and pushing farmers into debt (cottonedon.org). Pests exposed to synthetic pesticides build up a resistance to them so that, each year, farmers have to buy and use more pesticides to grow the same amount of cotton. Organic cotton benefits cotton producers and the environment by avoiding harmful chemical use and providing social benefits such as dept prevention.

8. WATER POLLUTION
Organic farming practices create healthy soils which make better use of water inputs and are more resilient in drought conditions. By eliminating the use of synthetic pesticides and fertilisers, organic cotton keeps waterways and drinking water safe and clean. The water pollution impact of organic cotton has been shown to be 98% less than non-organic cotton production (The Soil Association UK)

9. GREENHOUSE GAS EMISSIONS
Organic cotton growing produces up to 94% less greenhouse gas emissions than conventional cotton by eliminating the use of manufactured fertilisers and pesticides, and reducing nitrogen inputs. By maintaining their health, organic practices turn soils into a carbon 'sink', removing CO2 from the atmosphere. (cottonedon.org)

10. ANIMAL WELFARE
Many certified textiles also consider animal welfare and insure animals are not exposed to many of the cruel practices which are par for the course in the fashion industry. There are an increasing number of producers who do not test dyes or inks on animals and who use organic crops that encourage biodiversity and improve the quality of the ecosystems in the natural environment. And there are in increasing number of natural alternatives to animal skins.

11. TEXTILE WASTE
In the UK, over 1 million tonnes of textiles are sent to landfill or incinerated every year resulting in increased waste and carbon emissions. Synthetic fibres can take up to 200 years to decompose. While natural fibres such as wool decompose but produce methane which contributes to global warming. (BIR.org) Every scrap of fabric can be recycled or reused and given new life – they are either spun into new fibre, or shredded for industrial use such as roofing felt, car insulation, loudspeaker cones etc. (BIR.org)

12. TRANSPARENT SUPPLY CHAIN
Buying from brands that prioritise transparency will contribute towards a global movement to better understand supply chains. Better understanding a supply chain is a critical step in being able to identify areas for environmental and social improvements in practices.
Provenance: Supply chain transparency is key when choosing any supplier. A good supplier will be able to identify every stage of production - from seed to final product. If this information is not displayed on their website, it is advisable to contact the company directly for more information. By asking questions you can better understand the supplier and their reasons for not disclosing such information, as well as encouraging them to do so in the future.

Certified: It is important to consider a company’s ethical credentials, and ask to see evidence (such as a certificate) to back up any claims around sustainability, eco-friendliness and safe and fair working conditions. This chapter contains a list of the most common certifications to look out for. Each certificate generally covers a specific area - some of the certificates listed cover companies and some cover the actual products. Ideally, suppliers would have a form of Fairtrade certification, which covers social issues and working environment, as well as an agricultural or environmental certificate. The GOTS certificate (Global Organic Textile Standard) is the gold standard in terms of textiles, as it identifies a fabric or product as being both organic and Fairtrade.

Un-certified: There are of course, some grey areas regarding certification. Some of the more widely known certifications and standards such as GOTS or Fairtrade, have to be paid for by the supplier. They also require three years of tax returns, and naturally, require suppliers to meet exceptionally high standards. This is not always possible, or affordable, for small-scale businesses or co-operatives. However, in these instances, it is particularly important to contact a company directly and ask for more information, and consult online forums such as The Sustainable Angle or The Common Objective. In this directory, some listings are labelled as “un-certified organic” or “no-certification” or “fair trade”, rather than “Fairtrade certified”. That is because, having dealt with them personally, or having done a certain amount of research on the company, we feel their claims can be supported. We strongly believe in supporting small scale artisans and co-operatives, who are working to preserve and promote traditional crafts.

It is crucial that you identify what is most important to you in terms of ethics - be it animal welfare, artisan empowerment or organic farming, and investigate suppliers thoroughly with this in mind. Most will meet all of the above criteria, but some may focus on one over the other.
BETTER COTTON INITIATIVE [BCI]

The Better Cotton Initiative (BCI) is a not-for-profit organisation stewarding the global standards for Better Cotton, and bringing together cotton’s complex supply chain, from the farmers to the retailers.

BCI exists to make global cotton production better for the people who produce it, better for the environment it grows in and better for the sector’s future, by developing Better Cotton as a sustainable mainstream commodity.

BLUESIGN®

The bluesign® certification combines aspects of consumer safety, water and air emissions and occupational health, with a particular focus on the reduction of harmful substance usage at early stages of production. Instead of testing finished products bluesign® system is applied at the point where the production starts. This means, that suppliers, manufacturers, retailers and brands have to go through rigorous tests in order to verify compliance with bluesign® criteria.

Bluesign® system guarantees the application of sustainable ingredients in a clean process at which end stands a safely manufactured product. As a result, the textile industry manages the natural resources soundly and responsibly, reduces water and air emissions, improves its waste water treatment and generally reduces its ecological footprint.

CRADLE TO CRADLE

The Cradle to Cradle Certified™ Product Standard guides designers and manufacturers through a continual improvement process that looks at a product through five quality categories — material health, material reutilization, renewable energy and carbon management, water stewardship, and social fairness. A product receives an achievement level in each category — Basic, Bronze, Silver, Gold, or Platinum — with the lowest achievement level representing the product’s overall mark.

Fashion Positive have created a digital Materials Library: a curated collection of Cradle to Cradle Certified™ materials for fashion designers and brands. This digital resource will allow you to more easily find, research and use Cradle to Cradle Certified™ materials in your products.

EU ECO LABEL

The EU Ecolabel helps you identify products and services that have a reduced environmental impact throughout their life cycle, from the extraction of raw material through to production, use and disposal. Recognised throughout Europe, EU Ecolabel is a voluntary label promoting environmental excellence which can be trusted.

The EU Ecolabel scheme is a commitment to environmental sustainability. The criteria have been developed and agreed upon by scientists, NGOs and stakeholders to create a credible and reliable way to make environmentally responsible choices. The EU Ecolabel scheme is a commitment to environmental sustainability.

FAIR WEAR FOUNDATION

Fair Wear Foundation (FWF) is an independent, non-profit organisation that works with companies and factories to improve labour conditions for garment workers.

FWF’s 80 member companies represent over 120 brands, and are based in seven European countries; member products are sold in over 20,000 retail outlets in more than 80 countries around the world. FWF is active in 11 production countries in Asia, Europe and Africa.

FWF keeps track of the improvements made by the companies it works with. And through sharing expertise, social dialogue and strengthening industrial relations, FWF increases the effectiveness of the efforts made by companies.

FAIRTRADE

The FAIRTRADE Mark is a registered certification label for products sourced from producers in developing countries. FAIRTRADE are a global organisation working to secure a better deal for farmers and workers.

The Fairtrade certification system is run by an independent company called FLOCERT. By checking compliance with Fairtrade Standards, FLOCERT ensures that the relevant social and environmental standards are met for the raw materials and products that carry the FAIRTRADE Mark and that producers receive the Fairtrade Minimum Price and Fairtrade Premium. FLOCERT auditors are highly qualified, usually based in the countries and regions where producers are located, and familiar with local cultures, languages, and legal systems.

GLOBAL RECYCLING STANDARD

The Global Recycled Standard is intended for companies that are making and/or selling products with recycled content. The standard applies to the full supply chain and addresses traceability, environmental principles, social requirements, and labelling. Developed with the textile industry in mind, the GRS may also be applied to products from any industry.

The desired effect of the GRS is to provide brands with a tool for more accurate labelling, to encourage innovation in the use of reclaimed materials, to establish more transparency in the supply chain, and to provide better information to consumers.

GLOBAL ORGANIC TEXTILE STANDARD [GOTS]

The Global Organic Textile Standard (GOTS) is recognised as the world’s leading processing standard for textiles made from organic fibres. It defines high-level environmental criteria along the entire organic textiles supply chain and requires compliance with social criteria as well.

Only textile products that contain a minimum of 70% organic fibres can become GOTS certified. All chemical inputs such as dyestuffs and auxiliaries used must meet certain environmental and toxicological criteria. The choice of accessories is limited in accordance with ecological aspects as well. A functional waste water treatment plant is mandatory for any wet-processing unit involved and all processors must comply with minimum social criteria.

The ISO 14000 family of standards provides practical tools for companies and organizations of all kinds looking to manage their environmental responsibilities.

The ISO 14001:2015 sets out the criteria for an Environmental Management System [EMS] and can be certified to. It maps out a framework that a company or organization can follow to set up an effective EMS. It can be used by any organization regardless of its activity or sector. Using ISO 14001:2015 can provide assurance to company management and employees as well as external stakeholders that environmental impact is being measured and improved.

The ISO 14001 is the world’s most recognized framework for environmental policy that helps organizations both to manage better the impact of their activities on the environment and to demonstrate sound environmental management.

www.iso.org/iso/home/standards/management-standards/iso14000.htm
OEKO-TEX® STANDARD 100

The OEKO-TEX® Standard 100 is an independent testing and certification system for textile raw materials, intermediate and end products at all stages of production. Examples for items eligible for certification: Raw and dyed/finished yarns, raw and dyed/finished fabrics and knits, ready-made articles (all types of clothing, domestic and household textiles, bed linen, terry cloth items, textile toys and more).

Items are tested for harmful substances including illegal substances, legally regulated substances, known harmful (but not legally regulated) chemicals as well as parameters for health care.

The requirement for certification of textile products according to OEKO-TEX® Standard 100 is that all components of an item have to comply with the required criteria without exception – that means in addition to the outer material also sewing threads, linings, prints etc. as well as non-textile accessories such as buttons, zip fasteners, rivets etc.

STEP BY OEKO-TEX®

‘Sustainable Textile Production (SfPeP)’ is the new OEKO-TEX® certification system for brands, retail companies and manufacturers from the textile chain who want to communicate their achievements regarding sustainable production to the public in a transparent, credible and clear manner. The objective of SfPeP is the permanent implementation of environmentally friendly production processes, optimum health and safety and socially acceptable working conditions.

Certification is possible for production facilities of all processing stages from fibre production, spinning mills, weaving mills, knitting mills to finishing facilities and manufacturers of ready-made textile items.

MADE IN GREEN BY OEKO-TEX®

Made in Green is a traceable consumer label for sustainable textiles. Each item with the Made in Green label features a unique product ID and/or a QR code allowing you to trace the article’s production. Each product ID gives you visibility into the various stages of production as well as the countries in which textiles were manufactured.

As proof that Made in Green labelled products are harmless to health, they must successfully pass a laboratory test and certification based on the OEKO-TEX® Standard 100.

RESPONSIBLE WOOL STANDARD

The Responsible Wool Standard is a voluntary global standard that addresses the welfare of sheep and of the land they graze on. On farms, the certification ensures that sheep are treated with respect to their Five Freedoms and also ensures best practices in the management and protection of the land. Through the processing stages, certification ensures that wool from certified farms is properly identified and tracked.

The goals of the Responsible Wool Standard are to provide the industry with a tool to recognize the best practices of farmers; ensuring that wool comes from farms with a progressive approach to managing their land, and from sheep that have been treated responsibly.

RECYCLED CLAIM STANDARD

The TE Recycled Claim Standard (RCS) is a standard for tracking and verifying the content of recycled materials in a final product. The goal of the RCS is to give credibility to recycled content claims on products. By protecting the trust of consumers as they choose products made of recycled materials, they hope to contribute to the increased use of recycled materials, and a reduction in the amount of waste sent to landfills or incineration.

The TE Recycled Claim Standard verifies the presence and amount of recycled material in a final product through input and chain-of-custody verification from a third party. It allows for transparent, consistent and comprehensive independent evaluation and verification of recycled material content claims on products.

SOIL ASSOCIATION CERTIFIED

Soil Association Certification is the UK’s largest organic certification body. Any product sold as ‘organic’ must comply with strict rules set at UK, European and international levels. These standards assure consumers they are buying genuinely organic products that can be fully traceable back to the farm.

For textile products, the Soil Association certificate covers manufacturers, processors, packers, brand-holders, importers, exporters, retailers and wholesalers. The Soil Association standards incorporate the Global Organic Textiles Standards (GOTS); this scheme therefore permits operators to apply the GOTS logo on product packaging.

WORLD FAIR TRADE ORGANISATION

- The World Fair Trade Organization (WFTO) is a global network of organisations representing the Fair Trade supply chain.
- WFTO is the home of fair traders: producers, marketers, exporters, importers, wholesalers and retailers that demonstrate 100% commitment to Fair Trade and apply the 10 WFTO Principles of Fair Trade to their supply chain.
- WFTO’s route to equity in trade is through the integrated supply chain. Practices used across the supply chain are checked against the WFTO Fair Trade Standard, a set of compliance criteria based on the 10 Fair Trade Principles and on International Labour Organisation (ILO) conventions.
- www.wfto.com

WRAP

- WRAP’s vision is a world in which resources are used sustainably. Their mission is to accelerate the move to a sustainable resource-efficient economy through, re-inventing how we design, produce and sell products, re-thinking how we use and consume products, and re-defining what is possible through re-use and recycling.
- Their facilities certification program is based on lawful, humane and ethical manufacturing within the apparel, footwear and sewn products sector.
- www.wrap.org.uk
All of the fabric suppliers listed in this directory demonstrate an effort toward environmental consciousness and social justice. Their specific eco-credentials are listed, however, it is important to constantly check in with these companies, and question whether their policies and certificates still stand. The information listed about each company is generally provided by the company themselves.

Below is an overview of the most common fabrics and a brief description of their ecological properties. It is important to understand that no single fibre type offers the lowest impact in all categories, demonstrating that we must prioritize the most important impact areas when determining the fibre with the lowest impact.

Cotton: Conventional cotton uses more chemicals and water than any other crop. Organic cotton, however, is an ecologically responsible fibre, is never genetically modified and does not use any highly polluting agrochemicals. Integrated soil and pest management techniques, such as crop rotation, are practiced in organic cotton cultivation. Organic cotton absorbs CO2 but is still a water intensive crop/ fibre.

Hemp / Nettle: Hemp grows extremely fast in any kind of climate. Hemp is mostly grown organically in that it does not exhaust the soil, uses little water and requires no pesticides or herbicides. Its skin is tough and insect resistant and it is often used as a rotation crop. It is rarely certified, though it is widely considered to be the most sustainable crop available.

Linen / Flax: By its nature linen is far more sustainable a crop than conventional cotton, however, herbicides are commonly used in conventional cultivation. Organic flax farming produces stronger seeds, and crops are rotated to minimize weeds and potential disease.

Bamboo: Bamboo is a highly sustainable crop as it is fast growing, does not require pesticides and does not claim farming land. It is also a much better CO2 extractor and oxygen emitter than trees, and its products are biodegradable and recyclable. However, bamboo fabric is controversial as its typical production methods require the use of chemical solvents and heavy bleaching, similar to how rayon or viscose is made. There are many suppliers who produce bamboo fabric with integrity, in a closed loop system, but it is worth considering the fabric’s production impacts and questioning individual suppliers on how their fabric was produced.
Silk: Silk is a complicated fabric when it comes to determining its ethical and ecological properties. The vast majority of mass produced mulberry silk starts its life in developing countries such as China and India, though it may be spun and woven elsewhere. For this reason, it is important to choose suppliers who identify themselves as fair trade. The organic cultivation of mulberry on an industrial scale is at the moment limited, however demand is slowly changing this. Silk production is also innately cruel in its treatment of silk worms. Ahimsa Silk (Peace Silk) and Wild Silk are vegan silks, which do not harm silk worms in their production.

Wool: The sustainability of wool relies on the farms where sheep have been reared, together with the spinning and weaving processes that follow. Buying Soil Association organic certified wool (or equivalent certification) means the wool comes from farms that value the sheep and the environment. Specific suppliers of British wool such as Harris Tweed and Skye Weavers have also been included in this directory, due to their preserving of traditional crafts, and also that their production methods are practically carbon neutral. Yak and Alpaca wool are gaining recognition as sustainable alternatives to commercially produced cashmere.

Synthetic Fabrics: Synthetic fabrics such as Nylon, Polyester and Acrylic are increasingly replacing natural fabric use. Man-made fabrics are largely made up of petrochemicals and oil, which have numerous negative impacts on the environment and people, as well as increasingly limited availability. However, synthetic fibre production can be much less water and energy demanding than many natural options and there are increasingly more up-cycled and recycled options that also support land waste diversion and the possibility of closed loop life cycles.

Animaná was created to promote the revival of culture of Patagonia and the Andes through fair trade, local development and the incorporation of added value to the natural fibres of the region.

The communities that Animaná works with in the Andes are largely made up of small-scale, family-run farms. Because the fibres the communities produce are highly sought after worldwide, they often sell them to intermediaries who end up gaining the most profit in the supply chain. Animaná provides a trade network that bypasses the middlemen thus giving added value to the production activities of these families.

AO TEXTILES

Liberation Kilt Company is a US company whose woollen and cashmere fabrics are produced in Scotland by Bute Fabrics Ltd using natural fibres. At the end of the fabrics’ life, the material is 100% biodegradable and 100% recyclable. All the yarn and fabric waste produced during the manufacture process is sold and recycled into other products. All machine oil is recycled and reused. All of the finished fabrics are technically inert and contain no toxins that could cause irritation or be released into the environment.

The company donates 20% of its gross revenues to not-for-profit organisations doing important work in the areas of human trafficking, climate change, inequality, censorship, oppression, nuclear proliferation and water scarcity. They are also working on tartans against structural racism, gender inequality, the refugee crisis and other pressing issues.

While they generally have high minimum orders, Giles and his team are keen to speak to costume buyers and will help however they can.

Malabar has a world-wide reputation for its beautiful collections of unique furnishing fabrics – handloom fabrics in vibrant colours and textures, embroideries, appliqués, sheers, silks, chenilles and velvets, complemented by a palette of 105 paint colours. For twenty years the company has worked closely with weaving co-operatives in Kerala in South east India. Malabar cotton handloom fabrics are sourced from small co-operatives which are run ethically and provide vital support for the small communities and villages where the mills are located.

Malabar has two ranges which are produced using organic yarns and they are striving to produce more.

Majestic Silks produce 100% organic silk, boiled off and kept in its natural state, ready for dyeing or printing. They are based in Hertfordshire, UK, where they grow Mulberry trees. Leaves from these organically grown trees are used to feed the silkworms, which then provide the organic silk cocoons.

Majestic Textiles do not use any detergents or bleaches, or feed its silkworms with hormone enhancements. The silkworms are allowed a full life circle, which gives the silk ‘Peace Silk’ status.

They produce hand painted and embroidered bespoke designs on request.

MYB was founded as an exclusive manufacturer of Scottish Leno Gauze weave, later known as Scottish Madras. MYB Textiles is now the only producer in the world manufacturing patterned lace with original Nottingham Lace Looms, some of which are over 90 years old and up to 1220cms wide. They thrive as the last remaining mill in the area due to their passion for continuing the lace and madras production tradition with the aid of new forms of product development and innovation. Thanks to this capability, the creative in-house design team often work in collaboration with client-based designers on bespoke projects, using their expertise to deliver a completely unique product to the client. Projects in the past have involved translating metalwork to lace, recreating archive museum textiles and As most MYB fabrics are sourced from original archive drawings, they are able to supply historically accurate designs for many film and television productions. Failing the discovery of an exact time period match amongst the MYB collections, exclusive pieces are often created.

Norhla trains and employs Tibetan nomads on the high plateau to process the fibre from their yaks. Norhla combines traditional techniques with more modern technology to create luxurious textiles in an endless variety of patterns and weights, suitable for all seasons. Norhla's threads are hand spun or custom made from combinations of yak and other precious fibres such as silk, fine wool and cashmere, to suit different textures and thicknesses.

Norhla's aim is to develop the economy of an area where people find it increasingly difficult to earn their living through pastoral activity alone. Industries like Norhla allow nomads to diversify their income while remaining within their communities.

The term “ethical leather” is very subjective, depending on your stance on animal rights, human consumption of meat and environmental impacts. According to the BLC, the biggest issues regarding the environmental impact of leather, concern the chemicals released during the manufacturing process, from farm to finished product, and also how it degrades at the end of its life-cycle.

Traceable Hides: So long as people are eating meat, many people consider leather, particularly bovine and fish leather, to be a by-product of the meat industry (This argument is open to a lot of debate). Similar to the issues surrounding meat, in order for leather to be considered ethical, hides must be traced to the farms where the animals were reared, and to the slaughterhouses where they were killed, to ensure the animals were killed in a humane way and are in fact a by or co product of the meat industry. Untraced leather often comes from a completely different supply chain to that of meat. Tracing the supply chain of an animal skin is very difficult to do, although it is increasingly becoming a requirement.

Vegetable Tanned: An estimated 80% of leather is chrome tanned. Chrome tanning is a very toxic, water intensive process. REACH European regulations have restricted the use of chrome tanning in the EU, and have regulated how chemicals are disposed of. However, in India and China, who produce the majority of leather globally, tanneries largely go unregulated, with numerous reports of untreated chrome and heavy toxic chemicals contaminating water supplies and causing serious health problems. The advised option is to source vegetable tanned leather from a European tannery, who can trace the source of their hides. Vegetable tanning does not involve the use of harsh chemicals and is therefore much kinder to the environment, and those that are working with it.

Fish Leather: Most people are aware of the ethical issues surrounding exotic skins, so “fish leather” suppliers have been included in this directory as an alternative. Although there are many issues surrounding the sustainability of fish, fish leather can be considered a sustainable alternative so long as suppliers guarantee where it has been sourced from, and that it is a by-product of the food industry, using skins that would otherwise be discarded. Fish leather is particularly strong, has a similar appearance to snake skin, and can be quickly tanned using a non-toxic tanning process. Fish leather has a 100% usable surface so there is no material loss.

Alternative / Vegan Leather: many of the “plastic leather” options are petrochemical based such as PVC and therefore large polluters so are not recommended. Polyurethane [PU], is slightly better as it requires less chemicals and some manufacturers are producing PU with plant based ingredients which makes it biodegradable.

Natural leather alternatives: A lot of exciting developments have been made in recent years with successful leather-look fabrics being made from components such as pineapple or mushroom. At time of print, these fabrics have made their way into the fashion industry, being championed by designers such as Stella Mc Cartney and Pozu Shoes, but are tricky to get hold of in small quantities. It is worth following the progress of companies such as Bolt Threads and Pinatex to stay up to date with their work, and to find out when they start selling commercially. Bark Cloth, and Cork which are more readily available to purchase are also excellent natural leather alternatives.

Atlantic Leather is an Icelandic tannery leading in manufacturing exotic leather from fish skin in addition to the more traditional long wool sheepskin tanning. The fish leather is produced from four different species of fish; Salmon, perch, wolf-fish and cod – each with its own unique characteristics - in a diverse range of colours, textures and finishes.

The fish leather produced at Atlantic Leather is environmentally friendly in two different ways: it is a bi-product of the fishing industry, utilising raw material that would not otherwise be used; and the production process makes use of renewable hydro and geothermal energy.

E-Leather is an award winning, environmentally friendly material technology company that uses traditional leather fibres and high-powered water to produce a technologically advanced eco-leather material.

Their products provide the look and feel of traditional leather with the performance and consistency of an engineered product – all done through a unique sustainable process.

Since starting production in 2007, they have remained passionate and committed to making the most of the world's natural and limited resources. Up to 50% of traditional leather hide is wasted and often destined for landfill. Using a smart and patented high-powered water process, they utilise this valuable natural resource and turn it into high-quality, desirable leather fibre product.

MuSkin is a 100 % vegetable layer alternative to animal leather. It comes from the Phellinus ellipsoideus, a kind of big parasitic fungus that grows in the wild and attacks the trees in the subtropical forests.

MuSkin is sold in small pieces and it is suggested to couple or laminate MuSkin with other backing materials, for instance a Fabric or paper to increase its mechanical strength.
Nova Kaeru is an exotic bio leathers tannery, specialized in tanning fish, ostriches and caiman leathers. It is located in a rural district of Bemposta about 90 km from the city of Rio de Janeiro.

Nova Kearu has developed its own organic, chrome free tanning technology, called “Bio Leather” based on a blend of biodegradable acrylic resins, polymers, glutaraldehyde, synthetic & vegetable tannins which make a superior quality leathers free of heavy metals and environmentally safe.

Skins tanned by Nova Kaeru are sub-products of the food industry coming from sustainable management farms controlled and regulated by IBAMA which is the Brazilian Institute of Environment and Renewable Natural Resources. Their waste is carefully treated and organic residue is dried and given to local farmers as fertilizer.

The Oak Leather products make up the Carvalhos Group ecological range of leathers. Currently, the Oak Leather range includes articles for the automotive, shoe, leather goods and furniture (upholstery) industries. BiOnature is the 100% biodegradable line of products of the Oak Leather range, in accordance with the ISO 20200:2004 norm. The leather is produced using minimum water consumption and is tanned without using harsh chemicals.

All the Oak Leather range is prepared to obtain the Chrome Free and Metal Free certification.

SLW is a Canadian company and the agent of a fish leather manufacturer, carefully selecting, processing and transforming a variety of fish skins into a unique and exotic leather. This leather can be dyed in a variety of colours, and is available in suede and glazed finishes.

The leather is processed from the finest quality skins of non-endangered fish species including carp, pacific salmon, bass, sturgeon, shark, catfish, salmon and Nile perch. The fish skin leather has been under development for over 20 years. The tanning process ensures odourless products and prevents stiffness.

They offer stock-lots, by texture, colour selection, or species, which are discounted from regular skin pricing, and have a section of odds and ends. They also have a “factory seconds” section on their website.
The risks to human health, and the environment, posed by chemicals found in many synthetic dyes and solvents are widely reported - particularly chemicals such as aniline, dioxin, formaldehyde and toxic heavy metals such as chrome, copper, and zinc.

The impacts are something that have to be considered in terms of any product being purchased which has been dyed, or any dying and printing that we carry out ourselves

The alternatives include:

Natural Dyes: Natural dyes are dyes or colourants derived from plants, invertebrates, or minerals. The majority of natural dyes are vegetable dyes from plant sources—roots, berries, bark, leaves, and wood—and other organic sources such as fungi and lichens. The use of natural dyes involves using mordants, it is very important what mordant is used. While Alum is thought to be the most environmental friendly option metals such as Chrome, Tin, and Copper should be avoided. It is also very important how the polluted waste water is disposed of at the end of the process. Ideally water should be filtered with the solid particles composted. Natural dying is more labour intensive and unpredictable than conventional dying.

Low Impact / AZO free dyes: Low-impact dyes are dyes with a higher than average absorption rate. This means less water is required in the rinse process and less dye runs off in the water, therefore, the dyes have a lower impact on the environment. Low-impact dyes do not contain heavy metals (like chrome, copper and zinc), nor do they require toxic chemical mordants to fix them to the fibre. They are an ecologically friendly solution that are used in a similar fashion to conventional dyes, are no more time consuming and there are a vast range of colours available. The best low impact dyes are those that are GOTS certified such as Dystar.

AZO free printing: Digital printing in general has a lower environmental impact than conventional printing methods as it can achieve savings in water and energy use and waste production. There are currently no digital printers in the UK using GOTS certified inks, however Les Trouvailles D’Amadine in France offers an excellent service. Silk Screen Printing is more wasteful, however, using water based or GOTS certified inks such as Permatex minimises its damage. Block printing is a printing tradition that creates employment for artisans and also has minimum impact on the environment.

The fashion industry has begun to embrace a movement toward sustainability and social justice, and there are numerous existing brands which echo this trend.

The list included in this directory is far from exhaustive, as new brands are constantly emerging, and a small amount of individual research online is likely to lead you to the perfect piece, with the right credentials. The majority of ethical brands exist online, but there are also some bricks and mortar boutiques dotted around the UK. Although more road miles are involved with online shopping, the overall environmental impact of running an online business is far less.

This list does not outline the ethics of each specific company, and so it is important to consider how a brand’s principles reflect your own. If you are unsure, email the company directly.

Buy Second-Hand First: Some vintage brands have been included. These are online stores which mainly deal with high-end and designer vintage pieces, or second hand luxury items. Costume houses, charity shops (apart from Oxfam Online Shop, which is a brilliant resource!) and e-bay have not been included, only because they are such an obvious solution for any costumer looking to reduce their carbon footprint! Second hand, is always better than buying something new and extending the life of an item of clothing will reduce carbon, water and waste footprints.

Ethical Fashion Brands: A fashion brand with ethical credentials will communicate in a transparent way about what they are and are not doing. Beware of brands that “green-wash” and look for complete transparency in terms of fabrics used, where the garments were made, and a company’s ethical principles. Some companies may boast impressive environmental credentials; however, this must align with a guarantee that all workers are paid a fair wage, and are working in a safe working environment.

High Street Brands: High street brands have generally been omitted, as there are few which can actually be considered “ethical” for a variety of reasons. To get a more comprehensive idea of how brands rate in terms of their ethics visit www.ethicalconsumer.org or www.projectjust.com. Resources such as the Fashion Revolution Transparency Index can also be a helpful resource when deciding what brands, you would like to support if you have to shop from the highstreet.

Ethical Shoes: Buying ethically produced shoes and trainers, is just as important as clothing. If not more so, given the number of chemicals workers are exposed to during their production. Fortunately, ethical shoes no longer means cork sandals, and there are numerous brands who are doing the right thing and paying workers fairly, and avoiding harsh chemicals.

Ethical Jewellery: Questioning the origin of gold, silver, precious metals and stones is very important to find companies who recognise the importance of conflict free mining and responsible sourcing.

It can be easy to make small changes in any costume department (without any hassle!), that can save money and also improve sustainability.

The following “green production tips” are recommended:

- Ensure there are sufficient recycling facilities in all departments, workshops and kitchens, particularly for paper, plastics (bags, garment bags, bottles) and textile waste.
- Create a bin for fabric scrap waste in workrooms, and contact a local charity or scrapstore who will take offcuts.
- Reduce usage first! Avoid single use products and try not to over order.
- Carry forward stationary, workroom and office supplies to future productions.
- Use cloth dress and shoe bags, instead of plastic dress bags.
- Buy recycled laundry bags.
- Avoid throwing out hangers - return dry-cleaner’s hangers and bags to them.
- Buy Fairtrade groceries from ethical supermarkets.
- Use environmentally friendly ecological detergents and soaps such as Ecover.
- If buying new, buy energy efficient irons, steamers and kettles.
- Consider fair trade and ethical brands when buying keep warm and comfort items.
- Buy cotton rather than syntethic fleece blankets.
- When washing synthetic fabrics use a Cora Ball or a Guppy Friend to help reduce the number of microfibers going into the ocean.

| They are an excellent choice for ‘keep warm’ items, producing a range of luxury sheepskin boots, slippers, flip flops, insoles and knitwear. They are committed to respecting the environment, using premium English sheepskins that are a by-product of the food industry. They operate a minimum waste policy in their factory, have carbon neutral delivery and use only organic and natural fibres. |

CORA BALL

| www.coraball.com | Laundry ball for collecting microfibers
| | Buy online
| | Ships from Canada
| The Cora Ball is a laundry ball that catches microfibers during your wash. Thousands of particles of plastic enter the waterway every time you wash synthetic fabrics and fleece. Inspired by the way coral filters the ocean, the Cora Ball collects microfibers into fuzz we can see, so we can dispose of them in the right way.
| At time of print it is only available to buy online, and ships from Canada, but soon it will be available from many home ware shops. |

Ecoalf Recycled Fabrics S.L
C/Hortaleza, 116 - Bajo local 28004 Madrid, Spain

- “El Confidencial-KPMG” Award for the best initiative in Eco-Efficiency.
- 80% - 100% recycled materials
- Buy online or via a UK stockist
- Menswear
- Womens-wear
- Keep Warm Coats
- Anoraks
- Accessories

EcoAlf is a Madrid-based brand that uses break through technology to create clothing and accessories made entirely from recycled materials. Discarded fishing nets, post consumer plastic bottles, worn-out tires, post-industrial cotton, and even used coffee grinds become outerwear, swimsuits, sneakers and accessories.

They work directly with factories to produce their own fabrics and garments that are 80-100% recycled.

Their down filled jackets come with a detailed guarantee of their warmth and water resistance, which can rival any of the top brands such as North Face or RAB in terms of warmth, durability and price.

As well as stocking a wide range of certified organic fabrics, Green Fibres sell organic homewares and clothing.

They are the ideal place to go for quality organic cotton comfort wear, organic wool and cotton thermals, underwear and socks, as well as towels and cleaning products.

- Washing bag that prevents microfibers enter the waterways
- Buy online or in stores
- Ships from Germany

The GUPPYFRIEND Washing Bag is a pragmatic solution to prevent microfibers from entering into rivers and oceans. Its soft surface results in less fiber loss and thus extends garments lifetime. Those microfibers that break during washing are captured inside the bag.

It is available to buy via their website or is sold in a number of homeware shops, or sports shops like Patagonia.
NORMN Hangers

Garment Rail Company whilst working as costumiers in the film industry in 2010 and unsatisfied with the standard heavy-duty garment rails available on the market, the founders of Garment Rail Company made it their mission to create more suitable, truly heavy-duty garment rail for use in all clothing sectors.

They offer a variety of rails for hire, a price match guarantee and bigger discounts for greater duration and quantity.

More information via their website.
Dry cleaning usually uses chlorinated solvents as detergents, the main one being PCE (perchloroethylene). This harsh chemical has been widely associated with damage to the environment and also poses risks for general health and safety. It has also been linked to increased incidences of cancer in dry-cleaning staff, and higher concentrations are found to affect air quality around dry-cleaning establishments.

Alternative options for ‘dry clean only’ garments:

CO2: This works by taking the gas form of carbon dioxide and pressurizing it into a clear liquid. Then, soap and clothing are added to the pressurized liquid as in a traditional dry cleaning machine. It is thought to be highly effective in removing stains, however, CO2 machines are very expensive to install and so it is not yet a widely available service in the UK. CO2 has a very low environmental impact and is almost entirely non-toxic.

Wet Cleaning: This is a non-toxic, environmentally safe alternative to dry cleaning. It utilizes computer-controlled washing machines, biodegradable soaps and conditioners, and finishes the drying process by using special moisture sensitive dryers. Wet cleaning is not the same as laundry, and is perfect for using on any garment such as: silk, cashmere, woollens, and other fine delicates. According to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), wet cleaning is the safest professional method of garment cleaning.

GreenEarth®: This process uses liquid silicone in place of petrochemicals. Essentially liquefied sand, silicone is non-hazardous and non-toxic to the environment. When released to the environment, it safely breaks down into the three natural elements it is made from: sand (SiO2) and trace amounts of water and carbon dioxide. Which means it is safe for the air, water and soil. Liquid silicone is commonly found in shampoos and beauty products, so it is safe next to your skin and unlikely to cause irritation. This method is more widely available, as it is costs the same as a machine that uses perchloroethylene, and so is not more expensive to either the dry cleaners, or the customer. It is a method that is safe to use on fragile garments, garments with sequins or crystals, but still offers the same level of cleaning as traditional dry cleaning.

Hydrocarbon: This is most like standard dry cleaning but the process uses solvents such as DF-2000, EcoSolv or Pure Dry. These petroleum-based solvents are less aggressive than perc and require a longer cleaning cycle. They are comparatively more ecologically friendly than perc, however, they are still solvents.

BLANC uses a cleaning technology, Lagoon, that has been specifically designed by Electrolux in partnership with Woolmark to clean delicate garments that were traditionally dry-cleaned. Taking exceptional care, they use water and biodegradable detergents, combined in very specific cleaning cycles for each type of fabric: controlled temperature, cycle duration and minimum mechanical action. The result is an incredibly effective and ecological clean for even the most delicate of silks, cashmeres and pure new wools. It is proven to out preform dry cleaning.

Blanc offers highly competitive prices, which are the equivalent or less than standard dry cleaning.

Jenny Robertson hand knits fine cobweb lace from hand-spun yarn using a traditional Hebridean spinning wheel. She makes bespoke shawls, scarves, gloves, wraps and stoles from the Isle of Eigg.

The production process involves sourcing local raw wool, which is often white and silver gotland or merino. This is then combed and carded, before being hand spun into yarn. There are a variety of colour blends possible and Jenny can also dye the yarn using the solar dying process (with natural extracts).

WHAT TO DO WITH TEXTILE WASTE

According to TRAID in the UK, over 1 million tonnes of textiles are sent to landfills or incinerated every year resulting in increased waste and carbon emissions. All textile waste can be recycled in one form or another, and here are some suggestions.

Fabric Off-Cuts and Scraps: Progress is being made as regards scrap recycling but at time of print, we are still looking for a streamlined approach for workrooms to easily recycle textile waste. Small off cuts can be sent to a scrapstore where it will be distributed to schools for art classes etc. Otherwise, a number of charities take scrap which they can then sell to textile recyclers such as iCo or TexAid. The smallest of scraps can be recycled into threads, or shredded for fillings for car seats etc. Reuseful Uk also have a directory of scrap-stores across the UK www.scrapstoresuk.org.

Fabric 1m plus: This can be passed on to scrapstores, fashion and costume schools, local theatre companies or to places such as Offset Warehouse.

Clothing and Shoes: Before offloading everything on a charity shop to be sold, there are some more direct ways clothing and shoes can be passed on. Warm coats and warm clothing can be handed directly to soup kitchens or refuge shelters, to be given to the homeless, and people in need. Suits and shoes can be passed to charities such as Suited and Booted, listed below.

Period clothing: Any historical costume items can be passed on to costume houses or schools who have a store for research and productions.

WORK AND PLAY SCRAPSTORE

| www.workandplayscrapstore.org.uk | Donate: | Work and Play Scrapstore promote the re-use of resources for environmental and community benefit. As a not-for-profit organisation staffed mainly by volunteers, they take a wide range of donated clean waste materials from businesses and individuals. The materials will be passed on to members to be used for educational, artistic, play, creative, social or therapeutic activities or making items that may be sold solely for charitable benefit. They do not supply individuals or companies who would use the materials directly to make products that are then sold for commercial gain. |

“In actively seeking out fair-trade fabrics, we have found some truly great textiles. The traditional, artisanal hand methods used to weave fabrics such as khadi cotton, married with natural dyes, lend an authenticity to period costumes that is difficult to match with machine made cloth”

Jacqueline Durran, Costume Designer

“If we don’t all do our ‘bit’ to help combat global warming / climate change we could easily end up in Mad Max’s wasteland. This book will help us all do our bit”

Jenny Beavan, Costume Designer

“I have always been appalled by the amount of waste created on film sets. With a little bit of thought all the raw materials could be recycled or donated”

Sandy Powell, Costume Designer
“The Directory’s tremendous resources have educated me. It is good to know that we costume designers have choices to help protect our planet”
- Betsy Heimann, Costume Designer

“It’s high time we were more responsible. The short term nature of our contracts allows for so much bad behaviour and results in us being far more slack with our environmental values than we are at home. This directory encourages best practice”
- Jane Petrie, Costume Designer

‘There is strong environmental movement in the film and TV sectors - it is led by those who understand the social importance of environmental preservation. These pioneers are making it easier than ever before for others to follow. I am delighted that this journey is now underway for costume departments, let’s hope more follow”
- Aaron Matthews, Bafta’s Albert Consortium
